Urban Wineries

Napa and Sonoma may be just a stone's throw from San Francisco, but why travel when you can experience winemaking at its best right in the city by the bay. A couple of new urban wineries resides here, so swirl, sip and savor without leaving San Francisco. For a broad taste of Northern California wines in one location, don't miss the swanky new Press Club. This tasting room just opened in September and features eight acclaimed Northern California vintners in an elegant setting. The space is located in the cellar of the Four Seasons Hotel. Each winery has its own tasting area, and there is a lounge and private dining room to enjoy perfectly paired bite-sized delights featured on the tasting menu. For more information, call (415) 744-5000 or go to www.pressclubsf.com.
