

Yerba Buena Watch: Press Club Opening Tomorrow

Tuesday, September 9, 2008, by Paolo

Yerba Buena: It's been the poster child for the many pleasures of San Francisco red tape and state liquor license obstacles, but at long last, Press Club is finally hoping to debut tomorrow. The 9000-square-foot urban tasting room/wine bar/retail wine shop was literally ready to open back in April, but it's taken until now to get off the ground. Given the retail/taste combination, it's been described as a sort of vino equivalent to the Ferry Building, so it should be very interesting to see how it unfolds. On the street level (above), you've got yourself a little wine retail shop, but the main attraction is underground, where eight wineries will have individual wine tasting bars surrounding a central lounge area.

